Screen Time, Apps for Education, and Internet symbols

Virtual learning is new to all of us and navigating it can present its own challenges. In our August newsletter, we will present free educational applications, internet symbol meanings, and eye health and safety tips, as this month we are bringing awareness to Visual Impairments/ Eye Health and Safety.

Displayed to the right, are common images seen while on a virtual platform. These symbols may be used to communicate, acknowledge, and engage with your teacher. Make sure your microphone is on mute in order to help out your teacher, unless they have told you to turn it on.

For eye care, we have seen people use blue light glasses (can be found on Amazon) and limiting technology once out of classroom. HELPFUL HINT: In order to access tech and practice mask wearing, have your child wear their mask during tech time!

Application topics we suggest include sight words, communication boards with choices, mediation, self care, and relaxation. These tools may be helpful to keep your great start!
